ISO 9002 QUALITY WOOD FLOUR

American Wood Fibers is proud to play a role in the beneficial use of the by-products of wood processing, thereby contributing to the preservation of the nation's forests.

A persistent dedication to quality has resulted in progressively higher standards, culminating in the 1997 ISO 9002 certification of our largest and most sophisticated wood flour production facility. Laboratory testing and exacting production standards guarantee that the wood flour is exceptional in its purity and consistent in its physical and chemical properties. Moisture, particle distribution, and density are carefully monitored using the latest technologies.
